

Roberto Chaves

Executive Vice President, Global Procurement & Supply Chain

Roberto Chaves is the Executive Vice President of Global Procurement & Supply Chain Procurement at Embraer, responsible for the long-term strategic relationship with suppliers and partners, further strengthening collaboration and performance as well as bringing more value to joint businesses to allow Embraer to capture its full potential.

Roberto joined Embraer in 2001 and has held multiple senior management positions in the Supply Chain area, including international experience at our former JV in Harbin, China, as well as serving as Head of Procurement for recent aircraft developments such as the Phenom, Praetor, and E2 Programs.

More recently, Roberto led our Shared Services Organization and the Commercial Aviation Carve-Out Program Office, and in the past two years, he implemented a new Procurement organizational structure. Roberto also serves as a Board Member at Embraer Prev and EZAir Interior Limited.

He holds a bachelor's degree in Mechanical Engineering, a specialization in Marketing, and a MBA in Business Administration. Prior to joining Embraer, he worked at SKF and General Motors.